PLUS feature

With this PLUS feature you can limit the number of participants for individual events, regardless of your total booked audience. Note that this is not the same as the participant limit that is always relevant for your whole account.

If you are running more than one LiveVoice event at your occasion, like several stages, and want to limit capacity on an event basis, you can control with this feature how many attendees can join each event within your overall participant limit.

Setup

Go to the tab "Access" at your event. Scroll down to activate the feature and enter the number of participants that are allowed for this specific event.

When the limit has been reached, attendees who try to join will get a message that this event is already full. The admin will receive an email alert so you know that the limit has been reached.

You can generate a dynamic access code for every participant of your event. For example, this can be used for printing individual access codes onto tickets. You can use this feature and a general participants password simultaneously.
